

(Continued From Page 1A)

throughout the county.

In 1881, a retail store for the sale of merchandise was established under the management of the superintendent of the factory. Eventually, and one historian adds, "to the great joy of all concerned," the mills went onto a cash basis.

However, produce was still frequently accepted in exchange for woolen goods, and was transformed to the employees for scrip.

At first, goods were sold only in Utah, but in 1876 the company enlarged its business transactions by buying wool for the eastern market, and this increased its revenue.

In 1879 the flour mill was destroyed by fire, involving a loss of $10,000, and, to add to its problems, the government required it to pay a federal revenue tax on all its scrip issued that same year.

FINE WOOLENS
MACKINAW
AND SHIRTS
FLANNELS
BLANKETS
AND ROBES

Knight Woolen Mills

Provo, Utah

THE OFFICIAL LETTERHEAD of the Knight Woolen Mills company demonstrates the class and color of the by-gone days. All of the blankets and robes in the picture are in bright reds, yellows, and greens in the original. These were all manufactured by the company, one of the few fully integrated woolen plants in the United States.

1/2 TON 4 x 4

$3698

'72 CHEV. BLAZER 4 x 4

Full bac, 350 V8 engine, 4 sp. trans., rear seat, hubs, power steering, chrome hub caps, radio, chrome bumpers, gauges, H78/15 tires mud & snow tires.

Reg. $4525

$3991

E. ASHTON CO.

SING CHEVROLET - BUICK - OPEL - CHEV. TRUCKS

'72 CHEV. 3/4-TON PICKUP

350 Cu. In. V-8 Engine, 4-speed Transmission,
H.D. Springs, 7.50/16/6 Tires.

'72 IMPALA CUSTOM COUPE

Air, Tinted Glass, Turbo Transmission, Power Steering, Power Brakes, Radio, Whitewalls.

